50. Monsanto Company v. Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., 99CV01917, U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Missouri, filed December 8, 1999.

Each of the above-listed litigations was decided or settled without a specific allegation of patent invalidity. In some of those litigations, the defendant raised defenses including invalidity of U.S. Patent No. 5,633,435, patent misuse, and/or violation of the Plant Variety Protection Act. The invalidity defenses were in the form of general allegations, but no specific allegation of patent invalidity was made.

In the following two litigations, a specific allegation was made that U.S. Patent No. 5,633,435 is invalid.

51. In Monsanto Co. v. Roush, 1:00CV0208, U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Indiana, Fort Wayne Division, filed May 10, 2000, Defendants submitted a report under Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(a)(2) citing documents A1 and C73-C99, and stating the following opinion:

In my opinion, Claims 1 through 87 of U.S. Patent No. 5,633,435 is, in all probability, invalid under 35 U.S.C. 103 as being unpatentable over Comai (Science 221:370 1983) and (Nature 317:741 1985) and U.S. Patent No. 4,769,061 in view of Fraley et al, della-Cioppa et al, Larson-Kelly et al, Stalker et al, Klee et al, Henner et al, Fillatti et al and Fitzgibbon and in all probability is invalid under 35 U.S.C. 112 as being unpatentable over Henner et al in view of Comai et al (Science 221:370 1983) and (Nature 317:741 1985) and U.S. Patent No. 4,769,061 in view of Fraley et al, della-Cioppa et al, Larson-Kelly et al, Stalker et al, Klee et al, Fillatti et al and Fitzgibbon and others.

Applicants also do not agree with the above-stated opinion. The Rousch case has settled and is no longer pending.

52. In Monsanto v. Scruggs, 3:00CV161-B-A, U.S. District Court, Northern District of Mississippi, Western Division, filed September 7, 2000, Defendants alleged several invalidity defenses. (See Defendant's Second Supplemental Answers to Plaintiff's Third Set of Interrogatories to Mitchell Scruggs, dated May 30, 2004 (C100).) Defendants filed further papers asserting that U.S. Patent No. 5,633,435 is invalid because it allegedly does not comply with the best mode requirement of 35 U.S.C. § 112 and that it allegedly does not enable the invention as required by 35 U.S.C. § 112. (See Defendants' Motion for Summary Judgment on Plaintiff's Patent Infringement Claim, Count One, Third Amended Complaint (C101) and Memorandum in Support of Defendants' Motion for Summary Judgment on Plaintiff's Patent Infringement Claim, Count One, Third Amended Complaint (and exhibits) (C102), dated August 8, 2003; Defendants' Response to Plaintiff's Notice of Dismissal of Count One (and Rebuttal to Monsanto's Response to Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment on Count One (with exhibits), dated January 12, 2004 (C103); Defendant's Motion for Establishment of Certain Facts, Invalidation of Patent Claims, and Expenses, as a Sanction, and Defendants' Opposition to Monsanto's Notice of Dismissal of Count One, Third Amended Complaint with Prejudice and Motion to Dismiss Defendants' Counterclaim Alleging Invalidity of the '435 Patent for Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction Filed December 8, 2003(C104) and Memorandum Brief in Support of Defendants' Motion for Establishment of Certain Facts, Invalidation of Patent Claims, and Expenses, as a Sanction and in Opposition to Monsanto's Motion to Dismiss Counterclaim (and exhibits)(C105), dated December 31, 2003.) Applicants do not agree with these assertions.

Upon Plaintiff's withdrawal of Count One from the Scruggs litigation, the court dismissed as moot Defendants' Motion for Summary Judgment on Plaintiff's Patent Infringement Claim, Count One, Third Amended Complaint, and denied Defendants' Motion for Establishment of Certain Facts and Invalidation of Patent Claims.
